Grenada Chapter U. D. C. Has Made a Good Showing

Necessary For the Chapter To Enlarge Its Membership.

With September a new year begins for the Grenada Chapter U. D. C. and it is very necessary for our chapter to enlarge its membership if we expect to keep up its splepdid record. Being only one year old, it has achieved quite a feat. It was dubbed the "Baby" chapter at Biloxi in May, 1936, again in Dallas, Texas at the general convention November 16th the same year, and at Jackson, Miss., when the Division Convention was held last May. Then it won the $5.00 prise for the greatest number of new members in the fiscal year.

Quite a signal honor has been bestowed on us recently. Our Registrar, Mrs. S. A. Morrison, was chosen to represent "Mississippi" at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., during Robert E. Lee Week, August 22-29. Finding it impossible for her to attend, another member, and former resident of Grenada, now residing in our Capital City, Mrs. Dawson Winter, was chosen, and is now gracing the occasion at the summer resort, most dear to the hearts of our Southern states, having been ,and still is, among the most aristocratic popular watering places in our U. S. A.

So all you women of Grenada county, who are loyal to the principles of those who fought to preserve the integrity of the South come and join us.—Reporter.

Fall Examination for White Teachers

The regular fall examination for white teachers will be held in the office of the county superintendent of education in each county on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, September 2, 3, 4. The examination for negro teachers will be held on the same days one week later, September 9, 10, 11.

The law provides that every teacher who receives part or all of their salary from public funds must hold a license valid for the year they teach. Most of the teachers of the state have a license issued either on college work or are exempt because they have taught five years on a first grade certificate. Any teacher who does not hold a license and expects to teach should report to the county superintendent's office on the days mentioned above.

Applicants for a license by examination must take the examination either in their home county or in the county where they expect to teach. Questions for these examinations are prepared by the State Board of Examiners and sent direct to the county superintendent. We wish to urge the county superintendents and the county board of examiners to conduct these examinations according to law and in a fair and impartial manner.

Clinic Established For Treatment Of Poliomyelitis In July

Two Orthopedic Surgeons, Take Day About to Give Corrective Treatment.

Keen interest is shown among people all over Mississippi in services to poliomyelitis victims, according to Mrs. J. F. McDougal, supervisor of Crippled Children's Service. Like a storm with fury spent, the disease is fitfully dying away, but this is only the beginning for scores of sufferers left maimed and distorted.

Arms, legs, and in some cases almost entire bodies are paralyzed. Patients face months and perhaps years of invalidism. Faithful, persistent effort is their only hope to regain the use of lifeless limbs.

To help these causes by early corrective treatment, an emergency clinic was established in July at the old insane hospital. Cooperating in this work are the State Board of Health, the Crippled Children's Service, and the WPA.

The clinic has an 18-bed set-up with a superintendent, three nurses, two orderlies, a cook, and a maid to look after the welfare of the patients. Two orthopedic surgeons take day about to give corrective treatment, such as application of casts, measuring for braces and splints, and straightening of limbs by weights. One orthopedic nurse has been in the field all the time to assist in the care of the casts and direct them in the use of proper massage at the proper time.

Comparisons of the disease this year and last are interesting. Children now having poliomyelitis show more involvement than those affected in 1936. Last year more boys were stricken than girls. There is not much difference this year. More negroes have the disease than in 1936. At that time practically all cases were very decided blonds or red headed children. This year, more brunettes are showing up.

More adults have had polio this year than last. A mother 19 years old and her baby 10 months of age have been treated. The baby, almost entirely covered with a hot, stiff cast, smiles and gurgles as happily as if she wore only the usual one-piece garment customary to infants in the summertime!

It is urgent that parents and family physicians make application and be assigned a definite date before sending children to the clinic. By such cooperation, satisfactory arrangements can be made to handle all cases without overburdening the surgeons who are giving so unsparingly of their time and skill.

To be of greatest value, treatment must be started from the seventh to the tenth day after onset of the disease, Mrs. McDougal said, and emphasized that the importance of early treatment cannot be overestimated.

GREENWOOD TO HAVE BIG CELEBRATION LABOR DAY

Monday, September 6 is Labor Day and Greenwood is planning a big celebration. It will be their first Labor Day Band Festival. The event is being sponsored by The Keesler - Hamrick - Gillespie Post No. 29, American Legion, for the benefit of the High School Bands of this section and will be the largest celebration of its kind ever held in Mississippi.

The program:

10 a. m.—Junior Bathing Beauty Revue. For girls under fourteen years of age. The winner of this contest will be awarded a beautiful loving cup.

11 a. m. Big Parade. Twenty-three of Mississippi's best high school bands in line of march.

2 p. m.—Water Carnival. Champion swimmers and divers in exhibition with Gene Melton doing his famous fire dive - diving into a pool of fire. Beauty Revue with over 200 of Mississippi's prettiest girls participating.

5 p. m. Speaking—Gov. White, Lt. Governor Billy Snider and Hon. T. Weber Wilson have been invited to address members of musical organiations and the general public.

7:30 p. m. Band Festival—All bands in the exhibition participating. Free Automobile Will Be Awarded.

10 p. m. Dance, Beauty Parade and Floor Show, Beauty Contest at which time the winner of the beauty contest will be announced and crowned Queen of the Festival and awarded a free trip to New York.

A Junior dance will be held at another location.

Tickets for the event are being sold by members of the Grenada School Band and the Band Mothers. They sell for $1.00. The Grenada Band retains 90c and remits 10c to the Greenwood Post of the American Legion on the sale of each ticket.

The Rotary Club, 20th Century Club, Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Garden Club, P. T. A., Band, B. G. Club, are all sending sponsors for the Beauty Revue on the First Annual Labor Day.

Editor's Note: We did not give publication to this event last week for the reason that we were of the opinion that it was to be more or less a trade's day event for Greenwood. While we have many friends, members of the Legion in Greenwood, and among the business men, we certainly could not be expected to give free publicity to any event which would draw trade from the merchants of Grenada from whom we get our business. The following letter which we received from Mr. Horace H. McRae, Commander, Greenwood Post American Legion leads us to the conclusion that it is not a trade day event and we are more than glad to give them this publicity:

Managing Editor
Grenada Sentinel,
Dear Sir:

Information has come to us that your paper has not seen fit to help up with our first annual Labor Day Band Festival to be held here on Labor Day, September 6. We are also informed that your reason for not giving us your assistance was that you were of the opinion that this affair was being staged to draw trade for the Greenwood merchants. We want to take this opportunity for expressing our views on the matter.

The Keesler-Hamrick - Gillespie Post, number 29, American Legion, department of Mississippi, sponsored this affair for the benefit of all the high school bands in this section of the state.

We are told by many of the band directors, Band Mothers' Clubs, and school superintendents throughout this section that all bands need financial support. We arrived at this method—to try to help, together with all the other bands, on a cooperative basis, believing that we are doing something for community and section in which we are living.

So far as the merchants of Greenwood are concerned, this affair is costing them plenty. They have donated to us considerable amounts of money to help us put this project over.

Every dime received by us from this affair will go toward the support of our own high school band. Not one person or any organization will benefit financially, we assure you.

For your information Labor Day, September 6, 1937 is a Jewish holiday, and we feel sure that most of the business houses will be closed for the day.

Trusting that you might see fit to give us your much needed support and assuring you of our sincerity, we are

Yours truly,
Horace McRae.

A Letter From Senator Pittman

Picayune, Miss., Aug. 16, 1937
The Grenada Sentinel,
Grenada, Miss.
Gentlemen:-

Please accept my thanks for sample copy of your publication. I have enjoyed thoroughly the style of your newsy little paper, particularly your Farm Page. I feel sure that many of our weekly newspapers could render valuable service to their local communities by adding a Farm Page and rendering that educational service to the rural people that we so badly need in Mississippi.

Allow me to extend my best wishes for the continued success of The Grenada Sentinel including your Farm Page. I feel sure that with the leadership of our mutual good friend, Mr. J. K. Morrison your Farm Page will continue to grow in popularity and service rendered. If I can ever be of service to you people in any capacity feel free to call on me. I am,

Sincerely yours,
FRANK B. PITTMAN

Carl Shaw Injured In Auto-Truck Collision

Carl Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Shaw, of Tie Plant, was critically injured Tuesday night when his automobile crushed into the rear of a truck parked on Highway 51 about two miles south of Grenada.

His injuries are reported not to be serious and at this writing he is doing well.

Sixth Case Of Infantile Paralysis

To the people of Grenada County:

The sixth case of Infantile Paralysis has developed in the county.

This condition makes it very important that every one, especially those under adult age, use the preventative spray.

By order of the State Board of Health, no pupil, teacher, bus driver, or other employee of the public schools can be admitted without use of the spray. This rule will be strictly enforced.

Respectfully,
T. J. BROWN,
County Health Officer.

REV. NEASLES TO BEGIN REVIVAL MEETING SUNDAY

Rev. Neasles, of Amory, will begin a revival meeting at the Central Baptist Church Sunday, Aug. 29, at 11 o'clock a. m. The public is cordially invited to come and hear his messages.

Gore Springs School Ope[illegible] 1937-1938 Session [illegible]ptember 3rd

Annual Co[illegible]nity Picnic to Be Held [illegible]he School Ca[illegible]

The Gore Spri[illegible]onsolidated School will open [illegible] Sept. 3. On that date, in addition to the classification of pu[illegible]ve are planning to have our a[illegible]al community picnic on the school campus. It is hoped that every patron and friend of the school will be present with a well filled lunch basket.

The opening exercises, featured by addresses by men who are intensely interested in our school and community, will begin at 10:00 a. m. A picnic lunch will be spread out on the campus at 11:45. Classification of students will begin at 1:30.

The state law fixes the minimum age for school entrance at six years as of September 1. We are permitting those who will become six before November 1st, to enter at the beginning of school. No child will be admitted at any time during the year who will not have reached its 6th birthday by November 1st. It is absolutely necessary that this law be observed because of the congested conditions in the primary room.

We are glad to announce that arrangements have been completed for the addition of chemistry and a commercial department to the high school. New equipment is being installed in a room that is to be used exclusively by the commercial students. A fee of $1.50 will be charged each commercial student. This fund will be used to help pay for equiping the room with typewriters, desks, tables and chairs and will be paid upon admission to the class.

At this writing we are hopeful of adding vocational agriculture for this session, but plans have not been completed.

Students are asked not to purchase books before getting a list from the teachers because of changes in some texts and changes in other courses.

With the cooperation that we are expecting from parents, teachers, pupils and friends, we are looking forward to a happy and successful year.

EUGENE McGAHEY, Supt.
Gore Springs School

Condition Of Yielding Family Improved

We are glad to hear of the improvement in the health conditions of the Yielding family, due very much to the services of a trained nurse. The funds to pay for the services of the nurse were given by the various churches and individuals of our town and were efficiently handled by Mrs. E. R. Henderson of the Central Baptist Church.

Judge John L. Bates Well Known Jurist Is Dead at Age of 60

Former Legislator, Was Native of Calhoun County, Funeral at Mt. Nebo.

Judge John Lee Bates, native of Calhoun county, widely-known lawyer, former legislator and one time Circuit Court jurist, died last Saturday, August 21 in a Jackson Hospital. He was 60 years old.

Judge Bates had been in retirement since 1920, living on his plantation. He had been ill for some time. He was born on Cole's Creek in Calhoun county, July 12, 1877, the son of George W. Bates and Mineva Jane Bailey Bates. The family was among the early settlers in Calhoun county, the father living at Cole's Creek for 61 years.

Judge Bates started the practice of law at Pittsboro, in Calhoun county, his partner in practice being H. H. Creekmore, now one of Jackson's leading attorneys. T. L. Haman, now an attorney at Houston, was also associated with Judge Bates at Pittsboro. He server as a member of the Legislature from 1904 until 1906. Later, he was elected circuit judge of the Third District. He served four years.

He is survived by two brothers and two sisters, only one of whom, Bailey Bates, remains in Mississippi. He lives at Big Creek. A twin brother of Judge Bates, George Bates, lives in Oklahoma. Mrs. Minerva Chapman, a married sister, and his youngest sister, also married, reside in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Funeral services were held at Mt. Nebo.

Farm Debt Group to Hold Regular Meet

Debt-burdened farmers and farm tenants who face serious complications from debt problems despite honest efforts to meet their obligations have an opportunity to consult with the Grenada county farm debt adjustment committee when it meets at Grenada Thursday, September 2, 1937, it was announced today by W. W. Whitaker, chairman of the group. The meeting will be held at the RA office and will begin at 3 p. m.

Services of the committee are free to all worthy debtburdened farmers or their creditors and the information and procedure matters are held in confidence by the committeemen.

The committee, the chairman said, is often able to help farmers and their creditors get together in an effort to find a solution to their problems that will benefit both and enable the farmer to carry on.

Persons desiring information about the services and functions of the committee should contact the chairman, the RA rehabilitation supervisor or the Extension Agent.

WM. H. McCORMICK FAMILY

(By W. E. Boushe)

Grenada county as much as any county in the state, has a right to be proud of its old families. Pioneers who in their rugged individualism, without thought of government and men who would have scorned same, have lifted our county from jungle, marshes and trackless world, to the envied homes of today. An outstanding family in this respect, one which could not be passed over, so marked has been their contribution to our county's uplift, is the family of William H. McCormick. Mr. William H. McCormick, the patriarch of this article, came to this county many years ago with his father, whose name I believe was Daniel Webster McCormick who was born in North Carolina. They settled near what is now called the McCormick neighborhood at Kirkman. Then the Senior McCormick died an honored citizen. His noble qualities which were legion were passed on to his son, William. Mr. William McCormick omitted no honorable opportunity to improve upon his talents, made for himself and family a happy and comfortable home. One on account of his children settling around him is more my ideal of a home than any other I know. Mr. McCormick married Miss Sarah Elamintine Weir, who herself was of one of the county's oldest and most respected families, being a sister of the late esteemed and beloved Frank Weir. Their children are all sterling citizens, men and women of highest character and principle, who have still further injected those principles into their children and their community.

Mr. and Mrs. McCormick were the parents of Robert H. McCormick who married Miss Maggie Keeton, a daughter of the late esteemed Mr. and Mrs. Benton Keeton, a sister to John and Jim Keeton. Mrs. McCormick, by a former marriage to another son of Mr. Wm. McCormick, was mother of our well known and respected fellow townsman, Max McCormick.

The next son, Joe McCormick, Married Miss Courtney Stevens. They also are an honor to the name as well as the county.

Mr. Wallace McCormick married Miss Velma Dollarhite, of Coffeeville, of a prominent family.

Mr. Ed McCormick is too well known by us all to need an introduction. He served us two terms in the legislature. He was a good

GEO. WILLIAMSON FAMILY

George Williamson and his wife, Edna Dejarnatte Williamson came to Grenada county "not then organized" in 1832, from Virginia via Murfreesboro, Tenn., as manager for the Glenwild Plantation then owned by the northern part by Jacob Payne,, the southern part by Major Mr. Mannie. In 1837 they moved to the place now known as the Williamson-Boushe place in the western part of Beat Two, and made them a permanent home. They built a large beautiful Antebellum home.

The property is still in possession of a grandson, W. E. Boushe. They amassed a fortune, had five children, all of whom were given a college education. A son, Judge R. V. Williamson was Colonel of the 20th Mississippi Regiment in the Civil War. He was one of the highest ranking officers to go from here. He was later a law partner of Senator J. Z. George. Mr. George Williamson set them up in business in Carrollton, Miss. Judge R. V. Williamson was for 19 years a judge serving as Circuit and Chancery Judge.

The next son of George Williamson, Tom Beverly Williamson, was a planter and a Baptist minister. A daughter, Sue Williamson, was in the first graduating class of Grenada College. She taught school 45 years and did much charity work.

Janie, the next daughter married Ed Jones Boushe, a son of Williamson Boushe, Sr., and a grandson of John and Susan Jones among the earliest settlers of this community. They were planters. "Ed and Janie" were the parents of five children. William Boushe is the only one in Grenada county. He has served in the legislature and is now Tax Assessor. He still owns the old Williamson-Boushe home.

The youngest daughter of Geo. and Edna Williamson was Georgia, who married Tom Talbert, of an old family. He was Baptist minister of fine spirit.

They have two sons, fine men who live elsewhere. A granddaughter, Lucy Talbert Whitten, living in Grenada.

George Williamson and wife were prominent in all public affairs, have through all generations been Baptists.

Contributed hearty to the cause of Confederate Government. They lived to an old age and are buried at the old home in a family cemetery. CONTRIBUTED.

The State Highway Note Commission, composed of the Governor, the Attorney General and State Treasurer, met in the Summer Offices of the Governor at Biloxi on August 18th, and decided to sell Highway Notes on Sept. 10 in the amount of $4,000,000.00, and they further decided to call for payment $615,000 of highway notes on December 1 of this year, the prospective funds available at that time warranting the calling of that amount of bonds. Thus when these bonds are called and paid another big lot of interest will be saved. Of course, this call, as in other instances, is independent of the maturity dates of highway bonds—all of these being met at maturity.

The figures by counties of the total assessed valuation of realty, personalty and utilities of the State of Mississippi, recently compiled for the year 1936 by the State Tax Commission, are as follows: Total realty—$381,161,690.00; Total personalty—$74,030,701.00; Total utility assessment—$89,381,311.00. Total assessment of the State—$544,573,702.00. Hinds county has the largest total assessment—$44,719,077.00, and the smallest county assessment is that of Stone—$1,361,715.00.

Under provisions of the homestead exemption act of 1935, there are 90,484 rural exempt homes, with an assessed valuation of an assessed exempt valuation, exempt from state advalorem taxes, amounting to $54,658,499.00; and there are 46,721 urban homes with an exempt assessment valuation of $48,407,066.00, making in all $102,065,565.00 of homestead property that is exempt from state property taxes, leaving a balance of property subject to state advalorem of $442,508,137.00.

August 19th was the birthday of the chief executive of the State of Mississippi, and Governor White observed the important event at his summer offices in Biloxi. The State of Mississippi extends congratulations to Governor White, and wishes for him many happy years yet to come. Governor White is really a young man yet.

Eleven new postoffice buildings for Mississippi have been authorized by the Federal Department at Washington, the cost of the 11 buildings being in the aggregate $788,000.00. They are as follows: Batesville $70,000; Charleston $73,000; Crystal Springs $70,000; Durant $70,000; Leland $70,000; Pass Christian $70,000; Port Gibson 70,000; Shelby $70,000; State son $70,000; Shelby $70,000; State 000; Waynesboro $75,000. Authorization for a $225,000 court house for Hattiesburg is also announced.

The grim reaper, Death, invaded the family circles of Governor Hugh White and former Governor Mike Conner during the past several days and numerous friends all over the State tender sincerest sympathy to Governor and Ex-Governor and their respective families in their sad bereavement. Some days ago Hugh White Ratliff, the nineteen year-old nephew of the Governor was accidently shot and killed near his home at Woodville, Wilkinson county, by his best friend, Clyde Wood, with whom he was visiting. Last week, Mrs. Holly Gertrude Conner, mother of former Governor Mike Conner, of Jackson, and also the mother of Dr. Oscar Conner and Jack Conner, both of Jackson, and Mrs. O. S. Mayfield of Seminary passed away at a Jackson hospital, after a lingering illness.

Dr. Felix J. Underwood, executive of the State Board of Health, has returned from several days spent in Washington, D. C., where he conferred with officials of the Federal Children's bureau and the U. S. Public Health Service relative to Mississippi's public health program for next year. Dr. Underwood is making a number of talks here and there over the State on the subject of venereal disease control.

Two suits aggregating $50,000 in penalties for failure to comply with state taxing laws, were filed last week in the Hinds County circuit court, by Attorney General Greek Rice, against two truck lines—the Sanders Truck Line and Red Ball Truck Line, plying freight trucks between Jackson, McComb and Natchez, being named as defendants. Failure to comply with the law carries a penalty of $50.00 per day, and the number of days of each company's violation makes up penalties aggregating the amount of the suits.

The officials of the Mississippi State Fair seem to be going to have a day set apart for every organization or movement worth while, and the program shows that we are going to have several celebrities of the Nation in Jackson during Fair week. Among these, as announced, are our own state officials, including the Governor, and U. S. Senators Pat Harrison and Theodore Bilbo; L. A. Downs, president of the I. C. railroad, and I. B. Tigrett of the G. M. & N. railroad; Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture; Henry Ford, of Detroit; James A. Farley, postmaster general; General John J. Pershing of world war fame; Governor Gordon Browning, of Tennessee; Harry Hopkins, administrator of public works; Harry H. Woodring, secretary of war, and others.

It is not permissible in a short news letter of this character to give the different days assigned to the various interests and organizations of the state, and the program connected therewith, but it is sufficient to state that this year's program is the most elaborate that has ever been arranged for a state fair, and it is safe to predict that it will be attended by larger crowds than have ever before assembled in the capital city of Mississippi. Everybody in Mississippi should make a strong pull for the success of the 1937 Mississippi Fair October 11th to 16th, inclusive.

Governor White has named Frank C. Glenn, of Hattiesburg, as a member of the Mississippi Unemployment Commission to succeed Leon Wheeless, who recently resigned to accept a position as executive director of the Unemployment Commission. Mr. Glenn is a car inspector for the Southern Railway Company and a member of the brotherhood of Railway Car Men. He will represent the southern district on the three member commission, the other two members being Carl Frieler of Canton, who succeeded Mr. Wheeless as chairman; and Birney Imes of Columbus.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Howard Dyer reports that the net revenue collected from gasoline taxes, less the refunds authorized by law from May 1, 1936 up to August 15th, 1937, amounted to more than 2½ million dollars increase over a similar period prior to that time. The total collections from May 1, 1936 to August 15, 1937, totaled $13,875,654.80.

WASHINGTON SUMMARY

(By Congressman A. L. Ford)

This week brings to a close a long and stormy session of Congress. A large number of controversal bills have been before the Congress ever since it convened on January 5. Some of them have been enacted into law, others defeated and some have been postponed for consideration at the next session which will, in all probability be a special session called by the president about November 1.

This week witnessed the passing of the Housing Bill which creates a Housing Authority and authorizes the expenditure of one half billion dollars in building houses in alum areas. Both houses of Congress passed and sent to the president a bill designed to plug all tax loop-holes. The Senate and House also passed a resolution pledging action on general farm legislation at the next session of Congress, the president having already assured us that cotton loans and adjustment payments would be made to the farmers in such a way that they will receive approximately 12c a pound for their cotton this year. An announcement by the president and Secretary of Agriculture giving details of the plan is expected soon.

A strong effort was made by the proponents of the wages and hours bill to bring it before Congress at this session. More than eigthy Democrats signed a petition calling a Democratic Caucus last Thursday night for the purpose of trying to bind the entire membership of the Democratic party in the House of Representatives to support this legislation and to bring it up for a vote before this session closed. Under the rules of the House, it is necessary that a majority of the Democrats attend a caucus before business can be transacted. The roll was called three times and on each call the Chairman announced that a quorum was not present and the caucus had to adjourn without transacting any business. There can be no question but that this legislation will come up and pass at the next session of Congress, because an overwhelming majority of the members of the House are in favor of its passage.

On Friday of this week Mrs. Bib Graves, wife of the Governor of the State of Alabama, took the oath and became Junior Senator from Alabama. It is probably the first time in the history of our country that a Governor has appointed his wife to fill a vacancy in the United States Senate.

NOTICE OF SALE UNDER TRUST DEED

By virtue of the authority vested in me as trustee in that certain trust deed executed by C. O. Cohea and wife, Mrs. Betty Cox Cohea, under date of March 7th, 1936, for the purposes of securing the payment of an indebtedness due Grenada County, Mississippi, as said trust deed appears of record in Book 71 at Page 260 of the Land Mortgage Records in the Chancery Clerk's office of said county,—default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness aforesaid, and being authorized so to do by and under an order of the board of supervisors of said county, I, O. D. Spratlin, Superintendent of Education of said county, as trustee aforesaid, will, within legal hours, at the east door of the court house of said county, on the 11th day of September, 1937, offer for sale and sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder for cash the following described lands, conveyed under said trust deed, to-wit:

S½ of NW¼ and SW¼ and the SW¼ of SE¼ of Section 17; and the SE¼ of SE¼ of Section 18; and the N½ of NW¼ of Section 20; all in Township 23, range 7, East, Grenada County, Mississippi.

I will sell as trustee only. This 18th day of August, 1937.

O. D. Spratlin, Trustee.

8-19, 26, 9-2, 9. 242w.

NOTICE TO THE APPLICANTS TO TEACH SCHOOL

The regular fall examination of applicants to teach school will be held at the court house in Grenada, Mississippi, on Thursday, Friday, Saturday, September 2, 3, and 4 for white applicants; and Thursday, Friday, Saturday, September 9, 10, and 11 for colored applicants. The examinations will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock a. m., each day, except Thursday. On Thursday they will begin at 1:00 o'clock p. m.

Respectfully,

O. D. Spratlin,

Supt. Educ. Grenada County.

8-12, 19, 26—83w.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Grenada, Mississippi, up to 7:30 p. m., October 4th, 1937, for paving, curbing, guttering and storm sewering of Line Street, from Jefferson to Govan Street; Mound Street, from Depot Street to College Boulevard (Avenue); Levee Street, from Depot Street to Fourth Street; West Street, from South Street to Margin Street; Mound Street, from Govan Street to Pecan Street, and for paving Church Street, from Second Street to Third Street, in said city, and the construction in said portion of Line Street of a reinforced three by five concrete box culvert 85 feet in length including necessary head walls, in accordance with plans, specifications and drawings prepared by W. E. Johnson, Engineer, and now on file with the undersigned Clerk of said Board.

Bids are invited for paving with Kentucky Rock Asphalt and with cement concrete, both. Curbs and gutters will be of cement concrete. Each bidder may file bid for either or both types of paving, and each bid shall be accompanied with bond or certified check in an amount equal to 10% of the bid to insure execution of contract if awarded by the Board. The Board reserves the right to reject all bids and also the right to abandon any part of the proposed street improvements as it may determine and all bids must be submitted subject to this condition.

Witness my signature this 21st day of August, 1937.

Miss Louise Andrews Weds the Rev. Mr. Landern Childers of Florida

Ceremony at 5:30 Yesterday Afternoon At Rose Hill, Garden of Mr. and Mrs. Hardin W. Reynolds In Fairmount. Many Visitors From South Attend

Of cordial interest to friends and relatives in several states was the wedding yesterday afternoon of Miss Louise Andrews, younger daughter of Mrs. Ernest L. Andrews, Sr., and the late Mr. Andrews of Taylor Street, and the Rev. Mr. Landern Childers of Winter Haven, Florida, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Childers, of Grenada, Mississippi, which took place at 5:30 o'clock in the garden at Rose Hill, home of Mr. and Mrs. Hardin W. Reynolds, special friends of the bride in Fairmount.

Dr. J. Stewart French, pastor of State Street Methodist Church, officiated. Dr. French performed the wedding ceremony for the bride's parents at Tazewell, Virginia, during the first year of his pastorate, and also officiated at the marriage of her only sister, Mrs. W. E. Lindsay, Jr., of Chattanooga, the former Elinor Andrews.

Prof. Miller Directs Musical Program

Prof. DeWitt P. Miller, director of music at Sullins College, was in charge of the musical program which was given by Mr. Miller, tenor, Miss Marjorie Allen, contralto-soprano, Miss Edna Davis, violinist and Miss Mary Anna Stone, pianist. Miss Allen sang "Where E'er You Walk" (Handel) and "I Love You Truly" (Grieg) Miss Davis played "O Promise Me" (DeKoven) and "To A Wild Rose" (McDowell). Mr. Miller's numbers were "Calm as the Night" (Brahm) Madchen, Mein Madchn (Lehr) "Daisies" (Barber) and a Nocturn by Curran.

As a duet Mr. Miller and Miss Allen closed the program with "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" (Victor Herbert). During the plighting of the troth Miss Stone played "Traumerei" with violin obligato by Miss Davis. Wagner's "Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin" was played as the processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March the recessional. Mrs. DeWitt P. Miller was the accompanist for the soloists.

"My garden with its silence and the pulses of fragrance that come and go on the airy undulations affects me like sweet music. Care stops at the gates, and gazes at me wistfully through the bars Among my flowers and trees, Nature takes me into her own hands, and I breathe freely as the first man."

Beautiful Rose Hill, so named from a family inheritance of Mrs. Reynolds, the original Rose Hill in North Carolina having been the ancestral home of her kin for many generations, was planted in a color scheme presenting a Dresden effect of exquisite beauty.

"A Garden is a lovesome thing,
God Wot!
Rose plot,
Fringed pool,
Fern'd grot—
The veriest school
Of peace; and yet the fool
Contends that God is not—
Not God! in gardens! when the eve is cool?
Nay, but I have a sign:
'Tis very sure God walks in mine."

The guests passed through the rustic gates down a lane formed of standards of pink gladioli connected with laurel roping, into the formal garden.

The wedding took place in the pergola, overlooking the lake, and presented a naturalistic woodland setting. The grey stone columns were massed with sunburst gladioli, shading from deepest blue to pale pink and the pergola was laced in rustic lattice, with a massing of pink and white blossoms.

The petite bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, W. Fred Andrews of New York City, was radiantly lovely in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned in closely fitted empire effect, belted with voluminous skirt forming a long train. The bodice was finished with buttons of satin on the long sleeves and down the front and the collar was in wing effect. The filmy tulle veil was worn in a coronet beaded in pearls, with chin strap of pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses, valley lilies and bouvardia, showered.

Mrs. W. E. Lindsay, Jr., of Chattanooga, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a bridal empire gown of King's blue chiffon, collarless with shirred blouse and long full skirt.

Miss Annis Morison, maid of honor, wore flame chiffon, the sleeves of the short bolero jacket, and full skirt edged with double ruffles of chiffon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Roma Robertson, of Norris, Tennessee, a Minnesota girl, and Misses Betty Steele of Williamsburg, Virginia; Mary Ellen Steele, of Emory, Virginia; and Janis Steele, of Tazewell, Virginia. Their costumes were similarly made of chiffon on empire lines, belted, with voluminous skirts, long buttoned sleeves, and shirtwaist collars.

Miss Betty Steele wore rose chiffon, Miss Mary Allen Steele, green, Miss Janis Steele, aqua, and Miss Robertson, yellow. They carried clusters of garden flowers and wore circlets of flowers in their hair.

Little Misses Jane Hassinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hassinger of Holston Hills, and Dorothy MacMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Hayes of Fairmount, were the train bearers. Jane, a beautiful dark haired and blue-eyed child, wore pale French blue organdie, embroidered, and Dorothy, a dainty blonde, pore pale yellow net.

The Rev. Mr. Robert McLeod of New York City, head of the mission board of the Northern Presbyterian church served Mr. Childers as best man.

The ushers were M. J. Andrews, of Baltimore; Pat Easterling, of Grenada, Mississippi; Sidney Smith, of Winter Haven, Florida, and Jack Woodward, of Bristol, and Louisville.

The ushers were Louis A. King and Oscar Dressler, of Bristol.

The men wore white suits and their bouttoniers were white carnations.

Mrs. Andrews, mother of the bride, wore black and white chiffon, with black picture hat. Her flowers were white roses and bouvardia. Mrs. Reynolds wore ashes of rose crepe with picture hat.

The bridal party after the ceremony stood to receive near the gazebo, in a bower of cherry laurel and holly carpeted with leaves.

In the gazebo, massed with gladioli, bouvardia, white hydrangeas and silver king, the bride's book was kept. There, birds in brass cages added their sweet thrills.

Bride's Table In Rose Garden

The bride's table arranged in the rose garden, was covered with antique satin and garlanded with white gladioli and tube roses. Centering the table was the wedding cake, a gift to the bride, so exquisite that it might have come directly from Fairyland. It was in three tiers, each tier being supported by five iced pillars that added daintiness to its appearance. The frosted flowers on the cake in palest tints looked equally as natural as the fresh flowers in the garden.

The cake was surrounded with bouvardia and maidenhair fern Place cards at the bride's table were monogramed in silver.

The ices were in moulds of roses, lilies and bunches of green grapes and the mints were in designs of garden flowers, including pansies "for thought," doves, bells and slippers.

Punch Served In Spring Garden

The punch table was arranged in the spring garden and was draped with green net over peach color, with festoonings of summer flowers. The punch was served from blocks of ice colored green, in which were frozen bunches of green and purple grapes.

Refreshments were served under a marquee, near the tea hut, in the east garden.

The bride upon entering the grounds of Rose Hill was greeted by Mrs. Reynold's gardener, who presented his own idea of a gift, The box contained Tennessee luck stones. Upon leaving the garden, the bride was showered with rose petals.

Those assisting in the courtesies in the garden were Mr. and Mrs. Hardin W. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoge Reynolds, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl King Johnson City, Mrs. Janis McIlvaine, Bakerville, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. King, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur King, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Newman, Mrs. Robert Love Taylor, Mrs. S. K. Lester, Mrs. Madeline Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Morrison, Mrs. Joseph Kirby, Mrs. Charles D. Richards, Mrs. Q. D. Barron, Sr., Mrs. Dick Robinson, Miss Eleanor Reynolds, Mrs. A. E. Garrett, of Winston-Salem, N. C. The young women serving were members of the bride's club and including: Mrs. Robert Grant, of Leominster, Mass.; Mrs. Hagy, Mrs. Robert B. Anderson, Mrs. C. V. Austin, of Kannapolis, N. C.; Misses Lucile Wright, Marjorie Allen, Marianne Roberts, Katherine King, Elizabeth Wall, Frances Lynch, Julia Kelly and Mrs. Thompson James, of Knoxville.

Mrs. Childers is a direct descendent of Lt. Reese Bowen of Revolutionary fame, who was killed in the battle of King's Mountain, and is a member of Volunteer Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution. She was educated in the schools of Bristol, Tennessee, and Sullins College, and is a graduate of both. For the last two years she has been associated with General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Bristol. She is a winsome girl, and her friends are legion. Her brothers are Ernest L. Andrews, Jr., of San Francisco, industrial agent for the Du Pont Corporation on the west coast; W. Fred Andrews, of New York City, with the American Bronze Aluminum Co., and Dr. M. J. Andrews, of Baltimore, associated with the University of Baltimore.

Mr. Childers is the elder [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Childers of Grenada, Mississippi. He was educated at Grenada High School, Highland Institute, and spent four years at King College, Bristol, where he took his degree. He studied three years at the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary, Louisville, Ky. Upon graduation from the seminary in June a year ago, he served until six months ago as assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Winter Haven, Florida. Upon the resignation of the Rev. Mr. McLeod, who served as his bestman, he became pastor of the church. In the very near future Mr. and Mrs. Childers will go to Edenburgh, Scotland, where the Rev. Mr. Childers will do graduate work. During his residence here Mr. Childers made many warm friends in Bristol, as well as with the faculty and student body at King.

Mr. and Mrs. Childers left during the evening in their car for an unannounced bridal trip. They will return to Bristol for a few days, and will visit his parents in Grenada, Miss., before going to Florida. They will be at home in Winter Haven after September tenth.

For traveling Mrs. Childers wore a Carolyn model of wine sheer wool with brown accessories.

Mrs. Childers was beautifully entertained with many prenuptial parties, which began immediateiy after the formal announcement of her engagement made by her mother and sister. Her wedding gifts are especially lovely.

Out of town relatives and friends attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith and their son, Sidney Smith, of Winter Haven; Mrs. Etta Dudley, Miss Barbara Grant, and Pat Easterling, of Grenada, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Austin, of Kannapolis, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Steele, Miss Elizabeth Steele, Misses Flora and Eva Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Thompson, Mrs. Chapman Peery, Mrs. Paul Peery, of Tazewell, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Steele, Miss Josephine Steele, Emory, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Garrett, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Steele, Louise, and Edgar Steele, of Richlands, Va.; Mrs. J. A. West, Miss Helen West of Winter Haven, Fla.; Fred Andrews, of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Andrews, of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McLeon, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Janssen, Winter Haven; Miss Rachel Royal, Mrs. J. R. Royal, Tazewell, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Garrett, Danville, Va.; Dr. and Mrs. Peter John, Laureberg, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Abernethy, Miss Sallie Abernethy, and Miss Jaroline Janssan, of Winter Haven, Fla.—Bristol Herald Courin Bristol, Va.-Tenn., Aug. 22.

Children In Court

Instead of purchasing a tube of tooth-paste with the money his father had given him a 16 year old boy played a slot machine that stood in the store.

To his dismay, the one armed bandit devoured his money and he had nothing to show his father for the funds that had been intrusted to his care. Knowing what the consequences would be when he returned home empty handed, he picked up a tube of tooth-paste and hurried out of the store.

When the merchant indignantly appeared in court to sign a petition for the boy's arrest, the judge said: "You are responsible for this boy's delinquency and I regret that I do not have the authority to impose a fine on you."

WILEY SANDERS.

Journalism lost its oldest editor in Mississippi and the state one of it's most courageous citizens in the death of Hon. Wiley Sanders, which occurred in Kosciusko last Sunday, August 22.

Mr. Sanders had been active editor of the Kosciusko Star-Herald for 40 years, one of the best papers in the State. He had been a member of both the upper and lower house of the State Legislature, U. S. marshall, and Mayor of Kosciusko for two terms. He was largely responsible for the establishment of the Mississippi State College For Women, the first state supported college in the United States, and was a power in the fight for white supremacy during the reconstruction days.

On July 26, he celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday and was the recipient of a congratulatory letter from President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Sentinel joins with the entire press of Mississippi in mourning the passing of Mr. Sanders and extends its sincere sympathy to his family.

THE MOTOR VEHICLE COMMISSION.

In the biennial report of the Motor Vehicle Commission for the period May 1, 1936 through June 1937 it was indicated that the state would be in a position to call approximately $500,000.00 more bonds in October. It has developed since this report was issued that $115,000.00 additional bonds have been called as of September 1. $668,000.00 of bonds have previously been called, or a total of $1,283,000.00 called and paid off before maturity since the creation of this department. Calling of these bonds represents a saving to the taxpayers of Mississippi of $860,053.75 in interest alone.

The legislature made provision for only six office employees besides the Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner. In order to handle clerical work, auditing reports, etc., this limited force has been required to work many nights and Sundays. We know this from actual observation as we have visited the offices of the Commission several times. We are reluctant to visit them now as we are afraid that they will put us to work.

Commissioner Dyer has handled this department most efficiently and the legislature should provide an ample personnel to handle the work without compelling the employees to work at night and on Sunday. The saving in interest alone on bonds that have been called and paid before maturity will pay the cost of operating the department for seven years.

TO THE NEGROES OF GRENADA COUNTY.

Grenada should be made an unhealthy place for labor agents and tenant organizers. Signs can already be seen of them coming into our midst seeking to lure farm hands to the Delta and other sections to pick cotton.

We would warn our colored population that these labor agents are going to offer you most any inducement to take you to another community. They will offer you transportation, a place to live, and possibly rations and a higher wage. But will you get all of this? And after cotton picking time is over how are you going to get back home? You will have no money for the "deducts" will have taken all you earned. And who will you expect to take care of you this winter? You will expect the people of this community to. But will they do it after you have deserted them when your services were most needed? We don't think they will.

The white people of Grenada county treat the tenant farmer fairly, they give him all he earns, they feed and clothe him and his family during the winter and provide medical attention when needed.

This morning's Commercial Appeal carries a news item about a negro tenant being forced to remain on a delta plantation in Tallahatchie county. We quote this article in part:

> "A complaint by a negro sharecropper that he was forced to remain on a Delta farm and that his wife was chained to a bed on a landlord's insistence they were in debt to him, sent Department of Justice agents into North Mississippi today on a peonage inquiry.
> "I went to the Decker place and in a sharecropper cabin I found the woman chained to a bed with a trace chain, Sheriff Dogan said."

We do not know whether this sharecropper was being held on this farm against his will or not. But we urge the negroes of Grenada county, to remain here where they know that they will get a square deal in time of plenty and be taken care of during the bad crop years.

It's a Fact...
THAT BETWEEN 1934 AND 1937 MISSISSIPPI DOUBLED ITS PRODUCTION OF LIVESTOCK AND LIVESTOCK PRODUCTS
THAT THE OLDEST BUSINESS INSTITUTION IN MISSISSIPPI IS A NEWSPAPER, THE HOLLY SPRINGS REPUBLICAN, FOUNDED BEFORE THE BIRTH OF THE PRESENT REPUBLICAN PARTY
THAT MISSISSIPPI IS THE FOURTH STATE IN THE UNION IN THE PRODUCTION OF SWEET POTATOES
SELECT

THE CENTRAL WAREHOUSE

(J. K. M.)

Our discussion of warehousing of necessity is repetition of ideas already advanced.

I came to Grenada with no State or Federal backing to cooperate in putting one of the units erected at a big cost into operation. I know that it takes more aid than merely a visit from some so-called expert who never had a day's experience in his life in the operation of such a plant. Just a blind man come to see us to lead other blind men. The distressing thing is that tax payers are paying for the visit of the blind man. Not only is this a useless waste of money but it means long delay. A fellow with his eyes open could supply leadership that will open the doors of the cold storage plants of the State and dedicate them to the service that they would render.

This program of teaching farmers to live at home is costing the tax payers millions of dollars and yet we continue to ship eggs out of the State when they are plentiful and bring them back when they are scarce.

Hands went up last June when we had a more than normal Irish potato crop in South Mississippi. Instead of storing the surplus, hands went into the air begging the Federal Government to buy the surplus. The commodity division, the bank for cooperatives, State and National banks had just oodles of money to loan. They could have financed the surplus Irish potato crop, loaning safely as much as the commodity division gave for the potatoes and the State of Mississippi would have more than consumed them. Ask your grocer what Irish potatoes are selling for today.

With eleven storage plants in Mississippi, 22 rooms available for storing Irish potatoes and not "narry" potato went into storage. Thousands of feet of space in cold storage plants in New Orleans and Memphis and yet not a potato was stored.

It is easy for the boys that draw easy money to send an appeal up to a kind Government to come and save us than it is to put intelligent effort into the task of storing and selling. This past spring was the time to start the lesson in conservation of surplus farm products and yet the boys in some places in Mississippi where these plants are located are chunking rocks through the window glasses.

I am glad that a local board has been selected if they have the desire to serve the farmers of this area they have the opportunity.

Head of Department of Com. Announced

Cleveland, Miss., Aug. 24—A recent graduate of the University of Iowa, Mr. C. V. Casady, has been named professor of commercial education at Delta State State Teachers College. The announcement of Mr. Casady's appointment was made today at the college by President W .M. Ketheley.

Mr. Cassady has made a brilliant record at the graduate school of the University of Iowa. He has accepted the work at Delta State Teachers College in place of Miss Inez Ray Wells, who has resigned here to accept a position in the University of Ohio. Mr. Casady will report for his duties in September. He plans to enlarge the work of the Department of Commercial Education now being offered.

Illinois Central Provides 4-H Prizes

Four-H Club members of Grenada county are eligible to compete for an attractive prize through an offer by the Illinois Central Railroad, announces the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work of Chicago.

The carrier is offering 61 such prizes along its line to be awarded by State Club Leaders in cooperation with county extension agents. They are allocated via: Alabama 1, Illinois 4, Iowa 10, Kentucky 7, Louisiana 7, Minnesota 1, Mississippi 20, South Dakota 1, Tennessee 8 and Wisconsin 2.

The winners are to be chosen from members making the best showing in club work in counties traversed by the railroad.

CLOTHES CONSTRUCTED FOR WEAR-AND-TEAR

Children's clothes constructed for wear-and-tear resistant helps to keep the mending basket empty, says Miss Ouila Midkiff, extension clothing specialist, of State College. Pockets and buttons that hold firmly in place, sturdy seams, and generous hems all help small garments to stand vigorous pay.

Torn patch-pockets are a familiar mending job to most mothers. Pockets often tear because they are too small, are placed too high, or are not firmly anchored. It saves strain to cut pockets large enough to hold the child's clenched fist, and to place them so low on the garment that hands cannot push them down. Two rows of stitching around the edge help to hold them firmly, and twilled tape placed on the underside of the garment at the top of the pocket will save tearing at that point.

Twilled tape is also a good reinforcement for buttons, especially those around the blouses of small boys' suits. Very small buttons placed on the inside of the garment directly under the large ones will also help to anchor supporting buttons. When sewing on buttons, pass the needle directly thru from the large to the small button with the fabric between.

The tradition of using dangerous fireworks for July 4th celebrations is giving way to safer types of noise makers, thus lessening the injury and fatality rate. The toy cannon pictured above generates acetylene gas, from a combination of harmless paste and water, which after passing through the barrel creates a temporary vacuum, and a loud report results from its collapse. The same principle causes the "explosion" when a light bulb breaks. The bottom sketch illustrates a rocket toy that shoots into the air upon contact with the sidewalk. A harmless pistol cap enclosed in shell furnishes the power.

Impetus Given Public Heatlh Program

"Impetus has been given the entire public health program thru the help of civic organizations," stated Dr. John W. Shackelford, director of the Washington County health department, in a recent address to the state board of health personnel.

Saying that the effectiveness of health work in Washington county is doubled by a lay organization called the Health Council, the director added that the group is a unit of parent-teacher association workers and serves as an auxiliary to the health department in the organization of pre-school clinics, immunization clinics and in securing corrections of physical defects in school children.

Workers having a genuine interest in children—and they are the majority—become more engrossed as they get into the program. At the outset, a worker may be a little bored in accompanying the nurse on visits to healthy babies and hearing her talk to the mothers about their care. Further, it may become monotonous to ask mothers with perfectly well children to come to a doctor for an apparently needless examination or even for immunization against diphtheria. However, circumstances alter cases and may bring about a change of heart as in the incident of the committee member who rather indifferently went to a cabin by the bayou to ask the mother of twins to bring them in for examination.

She was met at the door by a weary little woman with the fretful, emaciated babies in her arms. The tired mother became very interested when told the purpose of her visitor's call. Gratefully, she said, "I am glad you came. My two babies were so big and fine up until a month ago when they seemed not to be getting enough milk. I put them on the bottle and their stomachs have been upset ever since. They have lost weight, have cried most of the time, and I have not had a good night's sleep since they have been sick."

The committee member had seen so many babies put on a properly prepared bottle formula and grow just as they did before. With growing enthusiasm she discussed diets, baths, naps, and sunbaths with this harassed mother. In the face of pitiable helplessness she gained a new appreciation of this visiting of families, of getting children out for examination and teaching the mothers to better care for them.

Such workers are adding a new concept to the field of civics relations—the concept that the American privileges of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness can be increased by the application of another great principle, good health for the child who is the citizen of tomorrow!

How To Produce Knotless Lumber

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 14—After a study of trees from the forests of Mississippi, North Carolina, Florida and Wisconsin, Benson H. Paul, U. S. Forest Products Laboratory scientists, has learned how to produce knotless lumber.

In releasing the results of his studies, Paul pointed out that side branches on trees are responsible for knots on a log. Natural pruning of side branches is a snail's progress brought about by the limbs dying from exclusion of sunlight he said.

"The decayed branches drop to the ground, leaving irregular stubs that often cling to the tree for 50 or 100 years before they are enclosed by new growth layers as a fence post by drifting sand," Paul said.

It is those broken branches that appear as knots when the trees are cut for timber.

To escape knot formation, Paul recommended early pruning of forest trees. That makes the pruning scars smaller and restricts them to the center of the tree. Branches, he said, always should be removed with a saw rather than an axe. A smooth cut close to the trunk permits immediate formation of clear lumber, according to Paul's report.

Paul is an associate of Arthur Koehler, famous wood expert called as a witness in the Hauptmann trial.

The report on Paul's findings was recently received by State Forester Fred Merrill through the Dixie Ranger, publication of the southern region, U. S. Forest Service.

WHITAKER COAL CO.

Calm and quiet is Eli M. Whitaker, of the Whitaker Coal Co. He wants no "notoriety," but we insist on saying the gentleman is a member of the American Legion, and is vitally interested in civic affairs. (Information obtained elsewhere.)

Coal is the main and pervading thought of Mr. Whitaker, and his argument toward the purchasing of coal now, so that customers may get the benefit of summer prices, is sound and logical. The public, however will continue to ignore the warning of possible high prices and many will wait until the first cold day to place their order.

Summer prices are lower, coal can be stored, it will not deteriorate, but will on the contrary, burn better. Reason: The dust (if any) settles and the coal is drier.

Forest Conservation And Expansion

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 14—State Forester Fred Merrill obtained satisfaction today from recent action of Mississippi's largest industrial establishments in announcing a comprehensive program of forest conservation and expansion.

Merrill said he believes the leadership of the Masonite Corporation at Laurel will lead other forest product industries to join in a cooperative program of timber management which will assure stability and profits to all concerned.

With leading Jones county citizens joining with Masonite, the Mississippi Forest Service hopes that this county will soon come into the group of counties where a cooperative fire control program is underway.

Seventeen counties, through a joint arrangement between the county, state and federal government, now have a fire control program in operation, Merrill pointed out. Rankin county is expected to come into the program, and with Jones would swell the total to nineteen counties.

The state forester emphasizes that with the increasing interest in southern timber, particularly pine, it is imperative that a long-range management program be adopted.

"The north and Canada realizes the threat the south holds," Merrill said. He quoted Premier Hepburn of Canada as recently saying "the southern pine menace is a real menace. Southern interests are organizing to fill northern United States pulpwood needs with southern pine, while Ontario is retaining matured pulpwood undeveloped at an actual loss," the Canadian premier was quoted as saying.

Merrill said the American Lumberman recently took notice of the situation declaring editorially, "In order to assure a permanent supply of both pulpwood and saw timber in the south, however, it is being realized that there must be a general program of timber conservation and reforestation, and greater interest is being taken in that subject by southern lumbermen, and timber owners than ever before.

State Forester Merrill pointed out that while Mississippi must bid for forest product industries, the state must also recognize the need for timber management to guard against depletion of its forest resources.

Governor Hugh White has signified his interest in the matter by giving assurance that he will propose increased legislative support of the Mississippi Forest Service in its work in preserving and expanding timber resources in the state.

The governor anticipates establishment of a major pulpwood development project in South Mississippi in the Franklin county area. Pulp mill interests have over a period of many weeks been taking option on thousands of acres of pine covered lands in this area.

State Forester Merrill said every effort will be made to actively sponsor a timber management program along with development of new forest product industries in Mississippi.

Farmers Organzie County Cooperative; Rural Electification Survey Begins

(By J. L. Cooley, County Agent)

Last fall sixty of our leading farmers organized the Grenada County Farm Bureau to promote the improvement of Agriculture and farm life in Grenada County. Recently the Farm Bureau has sponsored the organization of the Grenada County Cooperative to operate our Cold Storage and Warehouse Plant and the "Rural Electrification" project.

The Grenada County Cooperative was organized at a farmers meeting last Friday with the following officers and board of directors: R. West, president; J. L. Elliott, vice president; J. D. Ashcraft, secretary-treasurer; E. L. Boteler; F. E. Gillon; E. C. Hayward; and H. J. Ray. This board of directors will appoint a manager at an early date and have charge of the operation of the Cold Storage and Warehouse Plant. The organization will promote cooperative production and Cooperative Marketing for the farmers of Grenada trade territory in Grenada and adjoining counties. A carload each of winter Cover Crop seed (vetch, bur clover, Austrian peas, oats) and basic slag has been ordered and will be available to our farmers at the Cold Storage Plant about Sept. 1. Plans are being made to open the Cold Storage rooms for meat curing about October 1.

Rural Electrification Survey Begun

The rural electrification survey sponsored jointly by the County Farm Bureau and Board of Supervisors was started last week by Mr. L. W. Gullett and Mr .B. H. Holder, representative of the State Planning Commission, The survey has been completed in Beat Four. Mr. B. B. Baker was selected to represent the county in Beat Four, to assist in making the survey. Mr. Baker reports Beat Four signed up 100 percent to cooperate in the rural electrification project. The survey is being continued into Beat Five this week with Mr. A. W. Mullen selected to assist in making the survey. Beat One will be surveyed next week and the survey will continue into Beats Two and Three.

Dove Season Opens Sept. 15th, 1937

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 23.—Mississippi hunters are preparing to shove fishermen in the background as the hunting season approaches.

Hunters will unlimber their guns beginning September 15 for a 17 day "try-out" on doves, and then on October 1 will have a free sway on squirrels.

Fixed by the United States Department of Agriculture on the recommendation of the Biological Survey, the dove season in Mississippi officially opens September 15 for 17 days, closing on October 1, after which closed season will prevail until November 20 when the second section opens through January 15.

The bag limit is 15 doves a day, with possession the same number.

Si Corley, director of the State Game and Fish Commission, announced that hunters now with licenses may use them until Sept. 30, 1937, as they do not expire until that date. New licenses must be secured from game wardens or sheriffs, however, before participating in squirrel shooting, the season on which opens October 1 to run through December 31.

Licenses for one-county use cost $1.25, with state-wide hunting privileges costing $3.25.

At a recent conference in Birmingham, attended by Col. Reuben R. Banks, state game and fish commissioner of Columbus, and Director Corley, efforts were made to have the dove season open during the entire month of September, with an alternate if a split season is designated that Mississippi hunters be permitted to hunt doves during the first 15 days of September. In place of the second period, November 20 to January 15, the state's representatives recommended that this season run concurrently with the bird season, December 10 through January 31. All proposals were side-tracked when the representative of the Biological Survey made his recommendation to the department of agriculture.

Before the State Game and Fish Commission fixed the squirrel season, open hearings were conducted for presentation of suggestions by sportsmen, whose ideas were followed by the commission in setting the opening date on October 1 and the closing date on Dec. 31.

Director Corley explained that the new squirrel season is uniform throughout the state, and replaces last year's stagger system in which separate dates were designated for the various supreme court districts.

Regulations require all guns to be plugged to three shots, with nothing larger than a ten guage being allowed in hunting doves. This regulation prohibits the use of rifles in dove hunting.

The migratory waterfowl season, ducks, geese, etc., opens in Mississippi November 27 to run to December 26, both dates inclusive.

Good Pastures Essential for Livestock

The importance of good permanent pastures as a basic part of the farming system on every farm is emphasized this week by County Agent, J. L. Cooley. He says good pastures are essential to the economical production and maintenance of livestock. They furnish the best and cheapest feed that can be produced. Pastures serve as one of the most effective means of preventing erosion and conserving fertility.

County Agent Cooley points out that pastures, like other crops, can produce only in proportion to the quality and fertility of the soils. If planted on soils deficient in plant foods, good stands of grasses and clovers may not be secured to conserve the soil, reseed or furnish sufficient grazing for livestock, he added.

The establishment of permanent pastures is regarded by agricultural leaders as of such great importance that the AAA is offering farmers payments of $3 per acre under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program for seeding perennial grasses and clovers on crop land, or non-crop, open pasture land as outlined according to soil conditions. Payments are also offered for applications of minerals to both new and old permanent pastures and for terracing pastures. The practices for which payment may be made are as follows:

Ground limestone or its equivalent applied on pastures in 1937. Payment will be made at the rate of 7 cents per 100 pounds in amounts from 1,000 to 4,000 pounds per acre, if applied with spreader or broadcast and worked into the soil by light disking or applied with drill.

Sixteen percent superphosphate or its equivalent applied in 1937 on pastures. Payment will be made at the rate of 50 cents per 100 pounds in amounts from 200 to 400 pounds per acre, if applied with drill or worked into the soil by light disking.

Basic slag applied in 1937 on pastures. Payment will be made at the rate of 35 cents per 100 pounds in amounts of 400 to 600 pounds per acre, if applied with drill or worked into the soil by light disking.

Terracing of pastures for erosion and moisture control earns a payment of 40 cents per 100 feet of standard terrace. The minimum standard width is 12 feet and depth is 14 inches. On soil types and areas where drouth control is a major pasture problem, the regular terrace spacing may be doubled for erosion control but in lieu thereof double, listed furrows on level grades, at not to exceed 15-feet lateral intervals must be plowed for moisture conservation. This level listing at 15-feet laterals between double spaced terraces will earn payments of regularly spaced terraces.

The payments listed above will not cover the entire cost of establishing a permanent pasture but they will return about 70 percent of the actual output of cash for seed and fertility.

THIS WEEK—150 YEARS AGO

The Story of the Constitutional Convention of 1787

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

JUDICIAL AND OTHER POWERS

During late July of 1787, members of the Convention that wrote the Federal Constitution stated two principles which, for a century and a half, have remained fundamental characteristics of our National government.

They were (1) that the three branches of government—Legislative, Executive and Judicial—must remain independent of each other; and (2) that power not specifically allocated in the Constitution should remain with the people.

The statements were made during discussions on methods of establishing judicial and other powers in the new nation, and of choosing the Chief Executive.

"If it be a fundamental principle of free government that the Legislative, Executive and Judiciary power should be separately exercised," said James Madison, of Virginia, "it is equally so that they be independently exercised. There is the same and perhaps greater reason why the Executive should be independent of the Legislature than why the Judiciary should."

To which Rufus King, of Massachusetts, added that he wished the Convention to remember "the primitive axiom that the three great departments of government should be separate and independent; that the Executive and Judiciary should be so, as well as the Legislative; that the Executive should be so, equally with the Judiciary."

In support of that principle James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, explained: "The separation of the departments does not require that they should have separate objects, but that they should act separately though on the same objects."

In contrast to the long and often bitter debate which had marked consideration of the Legislative branch of government, discussion of the Judicial branch was comparatively brief.

It involved, among other things, methods of selecting judges; a point solved by the proposal of Nathaniel Gorham, of Massachusetts, that they be appointed by the Executive with the advice and consent of the Senate.

On the method of electing the Chief Executive, also discussed this week 150 years ago, there was longer debate.

Various methods were proposed, including selection by the National Legislature, by the executives of the different states and by electors appointed by the legislatures.

Proposals for the length of the Presidential term were similarly varied. They ranged from two to twenty years.

Nathaniel Gorham

In this discussion Madison again fought to keep all possible power in the hands of the people. For the responsibility of electing a Chief Executive, he declared "the people at large are the fittest," adding that they "would be as likely as any to produce an Executive Magistrate of distinguished character."

It was not, however, until a later date that agreement was reached on methods of election.

The power of the people came strongly to the fore in still another debate during the week—the discussion on methods whereby the Constitution, when written, should be adopted.

Certain members proposed submitting the final draft to the state legislatures. Others wanted it passed upon by the people, either directly or through representatives chosen by them for that purpose.

Among the leading champions of the latter method was George Mason, of Virginia. Vigorously he demanded that the plan be referred to the people, "with whom all power remains that has not been given up in the Constitutions derived from them."

"This doctrine," he held, "should be cherished as the basis of free government."

It was then agreed that the Constitution be referred to assemblies chosen by the people.

Next week: The National Executive.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By Ray Mallon Johnson and Pierce

Washington, D. C. — There haven't been so many real hard feelings in the capitol since Dolly Madison tucked her silver spoons in her apron and kited down the steps of the White House three jumps ahead of King George's grenadiers. Time was when Senator This or Senator That could stand up on the floor of the chamber and lambaste each other and then go out, arm in arm, to have dinner at the New Willard—to the scandal of the voters who had thought all along it was a grudge fight.

Today every fight's a grudge fight. The anti New Dealers will whisper in your ear that Franklin Delano Roosevelt is through. They point to his defeat in the Supreme Court fight. They point to the wage-hour bill and a score of other administration measures which have been sidetracked, checked, rejected. Yes, F. D. R. is all washed up—prestige all gone—with only a mere handful of still dazzled followers stumbing after him on his retreat from Moscow. And there are some who go so far as to say that if he isn't inpeached it will be because of sheer kindness of heart on the part of his opponents.

Listen to the other side. The President, his supporters admit, has had a number of his pet projects shelved. But, they chuckle, he effectively upset the opposition applecart with his nomination of Senator Black to the Supreme Court. Lawyers may moan and big business throw up its hands in despair but labor approves him and the deep South is tickled to see an Alabaman on the bench. And, say the New Dealers, the President has shown he can get tough. The broad Roosevelt smile and the hearty Roosevelt hand no longer greet opponents. The members who went to the White House to plead for emergency crop loans found they couldn't get 'em unless they did something about an agricultural control bill. And to the talk of lost prestige the New Dealers come back with the reminder that much the same things were being said back in the fall of '35 and the spring of '36. After that came the election of forty-six states to two; of 523 electoral votes to 8. Oddly enough it is just that overwhelming victory that has given us the most fruitless and timewasting session of congress in history. Every buck private in the winning side looked at himself in his mirror and privately decided that he was the Napoleon who won the day. They went to Washington and traded votes and switched votes and played politics generally, secure in their belief that they had been given a free hand by the 'peepul.'

Now, as congress gets ready to go home the wise ones are beginning to wonder. There's a rumor—just a rumor—that congressmen are no longer elected to use their judgment. They're elected to vote as they are told by the majority of the folks back home. In Washington there are no gamblers—on political questions! Every man wants to bet on a sure thing. Therefore nobody in Washington today is willing to put himself publicly on record as to whether—if another election were to be held this year—the result would be materially different from nineteen thirty-six.

The kitchenette influence is credited with inspiring inventors, who are turning out gadgets and kitchen accessories which serve dual purposes. An example of this trend is the combination filter and spray pictured above. Attached to a water faucet, it will either make a spray suitable for washing vegetables, fruits, etc., or upon turning the little lever, it will make a narrower stream for ordinary usage. The twin pail idea facilitates scrubbing as one section may be used for clear water while the other is reserved for suds, thus doing away with the necessity of continually changing the water.

Mrs. T. E. Hill returned home Saturday after a few days stay in Grenada.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed James spent last week at Greenville with their daughter, Mrs. Charles Van Norman.

Mrs. Buford Martin's many friends are happy to know that she is doing nicely at the Grenada Hospital after a major operation which was performed the 12th.

Cole's Creek News

This community was made sad last week-end when the death angel came and took away one of the most intelligent men that our community ever afforded, Judge Lee Bates. Mr. Bates being ill for quite a while was sent to Jackson for treatment, where he remained until death came and called him away, he was brought back home and laid away in Mt. Nebo cemetery with his father and mother and brother Luther. Mr. Pryor had charge of the burial services.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Young had the misfortune of getting their home and everything they had totally destroyed by fire Wednesday night of last week. Much sympathy is held out for them.

Mrs. Patty Young is on the sick list at this time hope she will soon be well again.

Miss Clebie Young, of Water Valley, is visiting in the home of Misses Anabel and Mildred Clark this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paynes have as their guest at this time Mrs. Payne's father and mother.

Master Jones Rounsaville visited in his old neighborhood last week.

Mrs. Harry Clark called on Mrs. M. O. Gray last Friday morning.

Mrs. Lee Clark visited in the home of Misses Anabel and Mildred Clark last Thursday afternoon.

Carl Havens surely wants to get sweet as he is making sorghum this week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Trusty, Mrs. Gaston Trusty, Mrs. Troy Moore, Mrs. Price Jones and Mrs. Ben Reaves and mother, Mrs. Maude Johnson also Mrs. Louis Milmer and Mrs. Jim Gulledge and children, also Mrs. W. N. Crenshaw called on Mrs. M. O. Gray last Saturday afternoon.

man then and is good wherever you find him, "all wool and a yard wide." He married the accomplished Miss Elizabeth Adams of Charleston.

Mr. Boyd McCormick, an excellent gentleman, running true to McCormick form, married Miss Lois Harbour, of Coffeeville, of a much respected family.

Mr. Quinn McCormick married Miss Muzelle Allen, of Charleston. Both Mr. Quinn and his excellent wife are citizens of which we are justly proud of as assets to our community.

One daughter of Mr. William McCormick, Miss Martha McCormick, like the rest of the family, is four square, a fine and accomplished lady. She married Mr. H. L. Trussell, of another respected family, they live at Itta Bena. All the other McCormicks live in the old neighborhood. What can be said of one can be said of all. Excellent farmers, excellent Christian men and women.

Mr. Wm. H. McCormick is now 85 years old. Mrs. McCormick is 81. They have been married 60 years. Years of honor and glory, they have ever been faithful members of the Baptist church, and in as much as they have been faithful to the talents the Lord has entrusted to their keeping none can but know, on the day of reckoning, the Master will say unto them, "Well done good and faithful servants, enter into thy reward."

THE LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

When I get to squirtin' around in the paper, I always seem to run across something or other that is kinda comical. And the latest, it is when they are fixin' to have a convention of the cosmetologists.

A cosmetologist is something that maybe everybody don't know all about. And I loked her up, and it is a person who tells you why it is that you look so funny, and what you should do about it.

And they are like a fisherman, and any person who believes a fish story, it would be safter to lock him up. And a person who imagines that a touch of purple paint at 2 dollars per touch, is gonna do anything except make you look like a sick Sioux, they might also be watched.

But these artists of the cosmetics, maybe they do some good, 'cause I see where the government says that we should put money in circulation. And instead of saving, or payin' our bills, we should spend more.

And for fish stories, it is a tight race between the cosmetologists and Uncle Sambo.

Your, with the low down,
JO SERRA.

A Boy Scout In Action

On Saturday morning of last week Billie Horton, son of Pritchard Horton, demonstrated what a boy scout can do in an emergency. Several boys were playing on a sand bar in Yalobusha river; Billie was one of them. Suddenly little Jimmie Jarvis, the five--year old son of Arthur Jarvis, slipped from the muddy bank into deep water. Like a true scout, Billie Horton jumped in to rescue the little fellow and brought him to the bank. The bank being slippery Billie called for James Carl Ranton to bring a pole. James Carl, like a young veteran, held on to one end of the pole while Billie with his boy he rescued climbed to safety. Billie Horton is a real scout, and deserves to wear the uniform, James Carl, now only seven years old, says he is going to be a scout as soon as he is old enough, but he has the scout spirit in fine degree now.

Cotton a Problem

The following words are framed and hanging in the office of the Grenada Oil Mill. You may be interested in the information it gives:

"Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the Southern States to keep the producers broke and the buyer crazy. The fibre varies in color and length and the men who can guess the nearest the length of the fibre is called a cotton man by the public, a fool by the farmer and a poor business man by his creditors. The price of cotton is fixed in New York and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought. A buyer who was working for a group of mills was sent to New York to watch the cotton market and after a few days deliberation wired his firm to this effect: 'Some think it will go up, some think it will go down, I do too.' "

What ever you do will be wrong, act at once. Cotton is planted in the spring, mortgaged in the summer and left in the field in the winter none better than this.—Boston News.

Southland Suffers By Downward Trend In Price Of Cotton

300 Million Loss Since Springtime High, 200 Million Loss Since Early August. Not Justified by World Conditions.

The continued downward trend in cotton price, which has depreciated the value of the South's major crop by about 200 million dollars by the end of the third week in August, is not justified by domestic and world economic conditions, even though the 1937 crop may be a bumper one, thinks J. C. Holton, commissioner of agriculture.

"The estimated yield of 15,593,000 bales is the largest since 1931, it is true," Commissioner Holton stated, "yet, the supply of cotton in sight is today not excessive. At this period in each of the years 1934, 1935, and 1936, there was in sight in round numbers 18 million bales of cotton. It was 21 million bales in 1933, 22½ million bales in 1932, and 23.1 million bales in 1931. This year, the carry-over is 4,497,000 bales, and this plus the estimated crop gives just a little more than 20 million bales of cotton in sight. The increase is not enough to utterly destroy price.

"This enormous yield was not caused so much by overplanting. There was rain in the southwest where lack of moisture is the usual limiting factor and dry weather in the southeast to minimize boll weevill damage which usually limits production. And so, because of good farming and good fortune, 2 million extra bales have cost southern planters 300 million dollars since the high level of early springtime, and nearly 200 million dollars since the August acreage forecast.

"To stem this destructive downward price trend, southern commissioners of agriculture, aided by N. C. Williamson, president ACCA, and others, spent last week in Washington seeking a government loan and price adjustment. We were assured a virtual guarantee of 12-cents per pound based upon either a loan of 9-cents plus the price adjusting of 3-cents, or a loan of 10-cents plus a price adjustment of 2-cents. We earnestly sought the 10-cent loan.

"The proposed loan has two distinct advantages. It will prevent a disastrous slump in price, and it will enable the farmer to benefit by future advances in price. It is hardly probable that next year will bring ideal cotton growing conditions such as characterized this year. The stabilization of price at 12-cents is predicted on production control next year, and if the future may be judged by the past, the assurance of cotton acreage adjusted to world demands next year will immediately lead to greatly improved price."

Accepting Applications for Enlistment

In order that the United States Marine Corps may be kept at the peak of its authorized strength and that naval vessels nearing completion may be manned the Marine Corps Recruiting Service is again accepting applications for enlistment.

This famous military organization with its colorful and varied service offers many opportunities to ambitious young Americans. Duties that call them to all corners of the globe give them adventure and travel. Marines are encouraged to further their education through the facilities of the Marine Corps Institute. The Military training and discipline he receives make him not only the most efficient soldier in the world but a useful citizen upon honorable discharge.

Modern barracks, wholesome food, and varied recreations are provided. The pay he receives is ample to enable him to have a tidy savings account upon completion of his enlistment.

Young men who are interested in joining this body of "Sea Soldiers," can receive literature and application blanks from their local Postmaster or by writing to Marine Corps Recruiting Headquarters, 535 St. Charles Street, New Orleans, La.

The Progressive Farmer

(J. K. M.)

The Progressive Farmer and Southern Ruralist cooperates with us in this week's issue in making a farm page helpful and interesting.

I have always regarded Dr. Tait Butler as one of the South's foremost agricultural leaders. He, too, has a great assistant in the Memphis office, Mr. L. A. Nevin.

Dr. Butler is not only a great farm editor but one of the finest men I have ever known. He has vision. He has courage.

If I should be asked to shut my eyes and select someone who would do my agricultural thinking I would select Dr. Butler.

The Progressive Farmer offers a real correspondence course in agriculture. But it is more interesting than a correspondence course for its lessons are gleaned fresh from the fields where farmers are practicing good methods and succeeding. It teaches good citizenship as well as good farming.

A letter from Senator Frank Pittman:

Senator Frank Pittman is chairman of the agricultural committee of the State Senate. He is a graduate of State College, a former county agent, now a dirt farmer.

He is not an ordinary chairman of a committee who merely calls a committee together, acts as chairman as lets it go at that. He is putting thought into his job and trying to study the needs of the farmers of Mississippi and then serve them in such legislation as he knows will help them. He is now farming and that gives genuine interest for he knows the problems that farmers face.

I appreciate his kind letter, I remember quite well standing in front of the Edwards Hotel after the adjournment he told me that he was going back home and make a study of problems that confront farmers and come back to Jackson for the next session better prepared and that is a fine spirit.

The thing that draws us together, is a common purpose is our mutual desire to bring about better agricultural conditions in Mississippi.

Mid-South Fair In Memphis Monday, September 13

Future Farmers and Tri-States Editors To Be Special Guests

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 25.—On opening day of the Mid-South Fair in Memphis, Monday, September 13, Vocational Agricultural students of the Mid-South known as Future Farmers of America along with one hundred Tri-State Editors will be special guests of the Fair. Around 6000 Future Farmers are expected to be here for the event and will march in a mammoth parade down Main Street at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Already Future Farmers from Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee have signified their intentions of coming, also bringing their bands, which will add a lot of pep to the parade.

The governors of Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Missouri have been invited to be here and ride in the parade. In addition, state superintendents of education and commissioners of agriculture have been invited and many of them will be on hand.

Following the parade, the Future Farmers will go to the Fair Grounds where they will inspect the big fall exposition in all its details. A special event for the F. F. A. is scheduled at the Fair Grounds at noon on Monday. In the afternoon, the Future Farmers will see the opening of the Rodeo in the grandstand at 2:30 o'clock.

The Mid-South editors who have also been invited, will be guests of the Commercial Appeal at a luncheon at the Peabody Hotel Monday at noon, after which they will go to the Fair Grounds to be guests of the Mid-South Fair. Many of the editors are bringing their wives and a busy round of entertainment is being planned. One of the features will be a barbecue at the Fair Grounds at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon at which the editors will be honored guests.

Plans are going forward for making the 1937 Mid-South Fair the greatest in history and every indication points toward the realization of that worthy goal.

The Warehouse and Cold Storage Plant

(J. K. M.)

The warehouses and cold storage plants can become laboratories to work out plans to market surplus commodities other than cotton.

There are two steps to be taken in Mississippi to aid the farmers in marketing their surplus. The first is to get the products warehoused at some central point so that volume will be had. The next step is to have the products graded. These two jobs by our present law are assigned to the State Agricultural Department.

We have a uniform warehouse receipt act but there is no provision for the setup of a warehouse. If we are to have a State system of bonded warehouses for other products than cotton we must make provisions to bond the warehouses to the State The essential thing to be done is for the products to be inspected. The State Agricultural Department has men in the field inspecting feed, fertilizer, etc. They can be used to make several inspections during the season. I have been urging the passage of an egg inspection law that would be self sustaining. This department could be of great service in aiding the communities in storing eggs in these plants to help pay the operating expense.

We feel that our efforts will be rewarded at the next meeting of the legislature for there is nearly a half million dollars invested in plants that must be put to use. Somebody has got to do more than give advice to aid these communities in putting the plants to the use for which they are built.
